Insulated and locking exterior storage compartments are finished with smooth fiberglass and sealed with an all-weather rubber gasket. Access is simplified with the handy finger pull and metal exterior door catch.

Chair pockets in freestanding dinette models secure dinette chairs for travel.

The sliding pantry in several models is located adjacent to the large double door refrigerator and adds to the abundant storage in the galley area.

AM/FM CD player with 4 speakers has auxiliary on/off switch located in the bedroom for your convenience.

Kitchen skylight with skylight shade is standard on all Foxes.

Each unit is equipped with the large exterior entry door assist handle in addition to the regular assist handle. The Fox also features an interior entry door assist handle for your safety and convenience.

Handy hardwood knife rack utilizes the space behind the range.

Beefy chassis with holding tank covers.

Window treatments feature upholstered valances and lambrequins with pleated privacy shades.

Welcome to the camping comforts of the Arctic Fox travel trailers and 5th-wheels.

Our goal at Northwood is to provide “no nonsense construction” in a unit built strong to withstand off-road use without neglecting the comforts of home.

Those of us living in the rugged Northwest know the importance of constructing travel trailers and 5th-wheels insulated well enough to withstand adverse weather conditions and durable enough for extended cross-country and off-road travel.

All Foxes have R-18 blanket insulation in the ceiling, R-7 in the walls and floor—40 to 60% more protection from extreme temperatures than you will find in any other unit on the market today. Slide-out rooms are also totally insulated—floor, walls and ceiling. With the amount of insulation used in the basic unit it didn’t make sense not to completely insulate the living area in the Fox slide-out models! Slide-out floors are full framed and insulated, unlike most slide floors that are plywood only. We make you as cozy as a little Fox!
From the basics to the frills built into the Arctic Fox, you will see the pride of workmanship reflected in the finished unit.
You will appreciate the integrity of the structural steel chassis which has been designed to carry the weight of your unit and provide adequate carrying capacity for your personal belongings. 2" x 3" wood floor framing provides additional strength to the construction integrity of every unit.

See for yourself why Northwood has the highest highway safety rating in the industry. Structural steel chassis frames (C-channel smaller units— "I" beam for slide models) are engineered for superior strength and structural integrity specific for each model. The straight axles provide extra ground clearance for off-road use. The tandem axles are strategically located to offer the perfect balance for your tow vehicle. Tires with appropriate load range are selected for each model for maximum carrying capacity and safety. Retractable non skid double steps (triple steps on slide models) provide safe and easy access.
The durable laminated hardwall surfaces are easy to maintain. The tough diamond plate rockguard (travel trailers) and diamond plate bumper wrap leave a lasting impression of no-nonsense construction. More important, the exterior fiberglass is resistant to flying road debris, chips and dents.
The full walk-on roof has been specifically designed to withstand heavy snow loads and shed water quickly. The Northwood 41/2" or 51/2" crowned roof truss system is topped with 3/8" plywood (not strand board) and sealed with one-piece laminated rubber. The roof is finished with oversized rain gutters with down spouts to divert water away from the side of the coach.
With so much emphasis placed on the structure of the Fox, we at Northwood want to assure you that we did not forget the amenities. Every Fox is equipped with ducted roof air conditioning, awning, microwave, TV antenna, dual axle shock absorbers, enclosed-heated holding tanks, DSI gas/electric water heater, tinted windows, spare tire group and many more features to enhance the beauty and convenience of your traveling home and insure your comfort away from home.
